

LOS ARANGO

HISTORY

Many decades ago during the Mexican Revolution, José Doroteo Arango, better known as Pancho Villa, was the leader of the northern forces and gained fame for defending the people from the abuses of tyrants.

One day a field worker (a man who cut agave plants) was very grateful to Arango for helping to oust a group of local aggressors. To honour his efforts, the master tequilero created a very authentic tequila using an artisanal recipe and put it into a hand-crafted bottle.

Arango was so happy with the gift that he asked the tequilero to put his family's name on the bottle.

TEQUILA

a world class drink

Our tequila is made using only blue agave whose maturation process takes a minimum of 8 years, during which Mexican growers personally care for the agave plants until they mature.
